Real Money, Real World - Wednesday, May 29th

Each year the 7th graders at Brady participate in a financial literacy program called Real Money, Real World through the Geauga County Extension of the Ohio State University. The students learn about budget making, money management, and smart spending decisions. Their work will culminate with a Financial Literacy Day on Wednesday, May 29th.

We are in need of 20-25 parent volunteers to assist with the students' budget simulation exercises that morning. No special skills are required! The details are:

- Approximately 8:30am- 11:00am
- Upon arrival, you will receive training from the facilitator from OSU. You do not need to be a financial expert to help!
